After You Have Bought Your Furniture--What Then?

Your experience with furniture begins when you buy it. At that point, should our service end?

Should it not be rather our job to watch that purchase of yours—to advise you regarding its care; to repair it if it fails to do its duty; to replace it if it does not fill its promise of service?

Do You Lose

when you buy furniture in other cities, or by mail from people whose interest in you ends with the dollar they receive? Count over all the ways in which it pays you to buy that CHAIR from your reliable home merchant. Decide then whether you are fair to your bank balance in buying without considering him.

You have the benefit in this store of a huge buying power that brings you low prices, and a principle of selling that insures you against exorbitant profits. You have a friendly store whose entire aim is to serve you.
